ABOUT

Spanning 3,000 miles of Washington State's saltwater shoreline, the new Maritime Washington National Heritage Area is a recognition of our state's unique and diverse water-based heritage. After three years of planning, Maritime Washington is ready to set sail and build a network that connects, strengthens, and increases appreciation for Washington's maritime heritage—and we want you to be a part of it. Join us for a discussion about the Maritime Washington National Heritage Area and what it means to be a partner, followed by a chance to connect with fellow maritime heritage advocates over happy hour.
